A Brand Representative from Rock Steady will be visiting our school on Friday 23 January.

Rocksteady partners with thousands of primary schools across the country to deliver inclusive band lessons designed to amplify children's self-belief, support wellbeing and help maximise their potential back in the classroom.

Rock Steady's Story...

A MUSIC TEACHER'S VISION

From an initial breakthrough by music teacher Mark Robinson, who spent his lunchtimes developing a progressive and inclusive music program accessible to the whole school, Rocksteady has grown to become Europe's largest rock and pop school.

Rocksteady is powered by a passionate team of musicians and support staff, and in fact is now the largest employer of musicians on a full-time, permanent basis in the whole of the UK. Most importantly though, Rocksteady provides a positive first experience of learning music for hundreds of thousands of pupils, whilst improving their wellbeing and amplifying their self-belief.

WHERE INCLUSION, FUN AND PROGRESS MEET

Rocksteady's unique, pioneering child-centred pedagogy enables any child to learn to play an instrument in a band alongside their peers, levelling the playing field for children and making music fun, accessible and inclusive.

Progressing at their own pace through an expertly designed curriculum of up to 300 musical skills, children are taught valuable life skills which will help them as they progress through school, enabling them to leave with what they need to succeed; the belief they can.
